Medi-Cal & CalFresh

Medi-Cal is California's public health insurance program. It provides needed health care services for low-income individuals, seniors, persons with disabilities, children, youth in foster care, pregnant women, and low-income people with specific health conditions such as tuberculosis, breast cancer, or HIV/AIDS.

CalFresh helps people who have little or no income buy nutritious groceries. CalFresh benefits are accessed through an electronic benefits transfer card (EBT) that can be used like a bank debit card to buy food at most grocery stores. CalFresh clients who are Able-Bodied Adults without Dependents (ABAWD) who work, volunteer, and/or participate in a work program (or claim a valid exemption) will continue to receive their benefits monthly so long as they meet all other program eligibility criteria.

Applying for Medi-Cal or CalFresh: When you apply for CalFresh*, Medi-Cal, and other health insurance programs offered through Covered California, you will be asked for information about your residency, identity, citizenship, social security number, income, and any other health care coverage you may have. If you and/or your family are eligible for CalFresh benefits, you are likely also eligible for Medi-Cal health coverage.

CalWORKs

CalWORKs (California Work Opportunity & Responsibility to Kids) can provide cash assistance to low-income families with children. Certain adults in the program are required to participate in welfare-to-work activities, such as looking for a job, attending job training, working, or furthering their education, which will improve their chances for long term employment and self-sufficiency. CalWORKs employment specialists help parents develop and achieve their career goals, and assist with referrals to child care so that parents can work. CalWORKs participants are automatically eligible for Medi-Cal and may qualify for CalFresh benefits.

Eligibility: In order to qualify for CalWORKs, you must be a low-income family with dependent children living at home. Monthly income must be under a certain limit (see chart below). Since there are many kinds of deductions, you are encouraged to apply, even if your income is close to the countable income amount. Also, the property limit is $2,250 per family or $3,250 per family if a member is over age 60 or has disabilities. Examples of property include cash, bank accounts, vehicles, and homes, although the home you live in is not included.

When you apply, you will be asked for photo identification and information about your residency, citizenship, social security number, income, property, and child support. Children must have their immunizations and must attend school if over the age of 6.

General Relief

General Relief provides temporary assistance to eligible adults age 18–64, with no dependent children. When no other source of assistance is available, General Relief can help with the most basic living needs, including rent, utilities, and incidentals. Eligible adults may receive direct payments to their landlord and/ or utility companies, up to a maximum of $310 per month, for a household of one. General Relief payments are considered a loan and must be repaid to the County.

Eligibility: Factors used to determine eligibility and benefits for General Relief include income, identification, property, citizenship/immigration status, age, and residency. An assessment will be conducted to determine if you are able to work. There will be certain activities that will be required of you, based on your individual situation. If you are a person with disabilities, you will be required to apply for social security disability benefits.

Your property and income from any source will be considered to determine whether you qualify for General Relief and your benefit amount. Your income must be within the allowable income limits, your property value cannot exceed $1,000, and your liquid resources (cash on hand, checking/saving accounts, stocks, etc.) cannot be over $100.
